WHAT HAPPENED TO THE MEETING?

You may be asking what happened to the February meeting? Well here is the rest of the story. We all arrived at the airport for the meeting at the usually place. The door was locked so Cecil went to fetch the key. While Cecil was off to fetch the key a Guard let us into the room. When we stepped in we noticed everything was gone no chairs no tables and no carpet. The Guard told us that the airport was turning the room into a museum.

Cecil went over to the building across from the terminal and asked if we could hold our meeting there in one of the conference rooms, they said yes.

We had the meeting there and the room was nice. We have asked Cecil to ask if we could use the room again for our future meetings. I talked with Cecil last week and he said he felt sure that we were going to have our meeting there again. The room we were allowed to use is the first room on the right when you walk through the glass doors at the front of the building make sure you check with someone to verify that is where the meeting will be. We will try to get Eddie to post a note at the store to remind you.
